

Cannabis Business Owners: You Can Fight City Hall

Marijuana Investor News

March 23, 2016

Cannabis business owners must quickly become accustomed to having their operation regulated. Most states have issued hundreds of pages of rules along with procedures for amending and enforcing those rules.

Mike McGrory recently wrote an article discussing the state rules and regulations that apply to cannabis business owners. In the article Mike warns industry members of the frequently changing rules that are often not well-publicized and describes how to object to potentially adverse rules.
