

A Fast-Moving Train Coming Into the Insurance Company Station? The Cybersecurity Model Rule for Carriers

USLAW Magazine
July 25, 2019

USLAW Magazine recently published an article written by Molly Arranz and John Ochoa detailing cyber security concerns for insurance companies. In the article, "A Fast-Moving Train Coming Into the Insurance Company Station? The Cybersecurity Model Rule for Carriers," Molly and John discuss data breaches in the insurance sector and the new legislation that was created as a result. As they state in the article, "These occurrences have heralded a swath of new state and federal legislation - and, the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) has taken notice."

The full article can be read in the Summer 2019 edition of USLAW Magazine.

Permission to reprint from USLAW Magazine.

PROFESSIONALS

Molly A. Arranz
Partner

John Ochoa
Partner

RELATED SERVICES

Cybersecurity & Data Privacy