

Data Analysis Reveals Key Factors in US CPB's Country-of-Origin Determinations

Publication
WisLaw NOW
January 4, 2019

Statistics are being used more in law not only to explain courts decisions, but also to prescribe recommended solutions to legal risks. Ngosong Fonkem's article, "Data Analysis Reveals Key Factors in US CPB's Country-of-Origin Determinations," dives into data analysis of the U.S. Custom and Border Protection's (CBP) past rulings in cases where products have undergone manufacturing or assembly operations in various countries prior to importation into the U.S. and how it is helpful to U.S. companies as they make investment decisions on how to structure their global supply chain operations.

PROFESSIONALS

Ngosong Fonkem
Partner

RELATED SERVICES

Corporate & Securities