

Universities Must Support Student Athletes Academically Even With New NIL Rules

Publication

The Columbus Dispatch

May 12, 2025

"Schools cannot reasonably benefit from the commercial success of their athletes while neglecting the educational responsibilities that ought to come with it," says Luke Fedlam in his opinion published in The Columbus Dispatch. With the proposed House v. NCAA settlement on the horizon, Luke's recent article gives imperative insight in four critical areas: contract literacy, tax compliance, financial management, and career preparation beyond sports.

You can read Luke's full article on The Columbus Dispatch website.

PROFESSIONALS

Luke A. Fedlam
Partner

RELATED SERVICES

Entertainment, Sports &
Media