

Keysha Martinez

International Trade Analyst

 202.719.7144
 kmartinez@wiley.law

Keysha specializes in the enforcement of U.S. trade laws, with a focus on import injury investigations. Prior to joining the firm, she served more than 15 years as an International Trade Analyst at the U.S. International Trade Commission (USITC), where she led numerous antidumping, countervailing duty, and safeguard proceedings involving various industries, including agriculture, steel manufacturing, chemicals, paper and plastics, and renewable energy technologies. Keysha has extensive experience analyzing trade, financial and market data, managing complex investigative processes, and working directly with industry stakeholders.

Representative Matters

- Assist in the development of trade cases by providing data analysis regarding the effects of unfairly traded imports on market share, prices, and U.S. industry financial performance.
- Support clients in preparing responses to official questionnaires and verifications; review and evaluate submissions to government agencies during investigations.

Professional Experience

- International Trade Analyst (Investigator), U.S. International Trade Commission (2009-2025)
- Director of Generalized System of Preferences, U.S. Trade Representative (2013-2014)

Practice Areas

Antidumping and Countervailing Duties/
Trade Remedy Cases
International Trade

Credentials

Education
M.A., American University
B.A., American University

Languages
Spanish