Liz represents clients in a wide range of international trade matters, including customs law and antidumping and countervailing duty proceedings. Liz represents clients in a variety of trade remedy proceedings before the U.S. Department of Commerce (Commerce), the U.S. International Trade Commission (ITC), and U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP), and related litigation before the U.S. Court of International Trade and U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. Her work involves a broad range of industries, including aluminum extrusions, large diameter line and structural pipe, and manufactured wood products. Liz has particular expertise in issues related to enforcement of U.S. trade remedy orders.

Representative Matters

- Represents clients in all aspects of antidumping and countervailing duty investigations, administrative reviews, circumvention and scope proceedings, sunset reviews, and corresponding court appeals.
- Advises clients on matters related to enforcement of U.S. trade remedy orders before Commerce and CBP. Assists clients in submitting Enforce and Protect Act (EAPA) allegations and e-allegations to CBP to combat evasion of antidumping and countervailing duties.
- Advised clients and drafted submissions to the ITC for consideration in the miscellaneous tariff bill process for duty suspensions and reductions.
- Advised clients and drafted submissions to the United States Trade Representative for consideration in a Section 301 investigation.
