International Trade Practice co-chair Timothy C. Brightbill was quoted by Law360 in the article, "Trade Probes Likely To Be Strong Bulwark For Trump's Tariffs," regarding the Trump Administration's Section 301 investigations and tariffs. "I think the administration is on strong legal footing, as long as it does a thorough investigation, even a quick investigation, and cites the basis for whatever it's going to do," noted Brightbill.
