

Federal Election Commission to Send RFAI Letters Electronically

---

September 2011

Starting in October 2011, the Federal Election Commission (FEC) will begin sending Requests for Additional Information (RFAs) via email rather than in paper format. A filer has the option of requesting that RFAs continue to be sent on paper via mail. In order to do so, a filer must submit a miscellaneous document (Form 99 for electronic filers) to the FEC to make this request.

All filers registered with the FEC should review their most recent Statement of Organization to ensure that the e-mail address disclosed is accurate and is frequently checked.
