

Veteran White Collar Lawyer Ralph J. Caccia Joins Wiley Rein

Summer 2012

Experienced trial lawyer and former federal prosecutor Ralph J. Caccia has joined Wiley Rein as a partner in its White Collar Defense Practice. Mr. Caccia's practice focuses on white collar issues, corporate internal investigations, Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA) matters, health care fraud, criminal antitrust cases, the defense of government enforcement actions and congressional investigations.

Prior to joining Wiley Rein, Mr. Caccia was chair of the White Collar Crime & Government Investigations Practice at the law firm of Akerman Senterfitt. He represented defense contractors and health care providers in criminal and civil False Claims Act investigations and handled numerous internal investigations for a range of companies. In addition, Mr. Caccia has represented several individuals in a number of high-profile public corruption investigations. During Mr. Caccia's tenure as Assistant U.S. Attorney for the District of Columbia, he prosecuted numerous jury trials.

Mr. Caccia received his J.D. from Georgetown University Law Center and B.A. summa cum laude from Fordham University (Phi Beta Kappa). He can be reached at 202.719.7242 or rcaccia@wiley.law.
