Washington, DC — Four Wiley Rein LLP lawyers were named among Law360's "Rising Stars" for 2018. Each year the publication recognizes individuals under 40 from around the country whose "legal accomplishments transcend their age." Winners were selected based on their outstanding "career accomplishments in their respective practice areas." The following lawyers from the firm were recognized: partners Laura El-Sabaawi in International Trade, Leland H. Jones IV in Insurance, and Brian Walsh in Government Contracts, along with associate Ari Meltzer in Telecommunications.

Editors at Law360 reviewed more than 1,200 nominations before selecting the final list of 168 honorees from more than 80 firms and spanning 36 practice areas. Feature profiles on each of the accomplishments of Wiley Rein lawyers will be published in Law360 in the coming weeks.
