

ESA CEO Stanley Pierre-Louis & Megan Brown Talk Innovation and Community Building during COVID

Wiley Connected

May 18, 2020

Media and tech veteran Stanley Pierre-Louis, President and CEO of the Entertainment Software Association (ESA), addresses the $44 billion dollar gaming industry's role in pandemic response and beyond. As a longtime supporter of the Women's High Tech Coalition, ESA is committed to technology innovation and connectivity. This is bearing out and accelerating in the pandemic response. Tune in to hear his views on the economic and community consequences of the pandemic on the diverse and creative gaming sector. ESA resources can be found here: <https://www.theesa.com/covid19>

Related Professionals

Megan L. Brown
Partner
202.719.7579
mbrown@wiley.law